EXPERIENCE

COBALT / ADP

BROOKLYN, NY
2010-2014

"Cobalt connects car buyers with car dealers online with complete automotive marketing solutions."

UX Designer

Reviewed acceptance criteria for enhancements to CMS, created wireframes and work flows to present at Scrum meetings. Evaluated usability studies, produced final mock-ups along with website assets, and assisted development team until product goes live.

- Improved product quality by creating and scheduling usability study, gauging product effectiveness, identifying issues, and making adjustments to design.
- Optimized product delivery time by assisting developers with clear visual work flows and design-guides in high fidelity mock-ups.
- Exceeded ADP's Projected Sales for 2013 with launch of customizable web site building platform by designing advanced editing tools for existing CMS as well as the look and feel of default website.
- Increased research and asset communication by organizing the design teams online resource center, consolidating all entries into distinct categories, creating template pages for usability studies, and assisting team in producing documentation with consistent format for ease in understanding.
